“ Lois was an independent and strong woman. Her church on Monroe Ave was her home for most of her life. She was a loyal member of Wellness Center at the Lutheran Church of the Incarnate Word for as long as it was in existence. Helping her was a joy. It was exciting to watch her drive her car. Her residency in Brighton must have been one of the longest as she told me she was born, raised and lived in that house until her 90's. It was a blessing to know and enjoy her knowledge of Brighton and Rochester. She used to tell me of how she would slide off the edge of her bed and could not get up until she slid to the top of the stairs and pulled herself up and went down stairs. She said she would sleep in the dining room once the table got cleaned off. Ha. Ha. She was less than tidy and said it was a weak point of hers. I would tell her that we all have weak points and life goes on but she should not be going up and down the stairs. I don't recall if she got a medic alert button but I did give her paper work describing 3 or 4 kinds of call buttons. She was a blessing to many who knew her. There was a time about 5 yrs ago when I dedicated altar

flowers in honor of her birthday at Covenant UMC.
